Assemblages of Breath in Late Liberalism

ELIZABETH POVINELLI

PROFESSOR OF ANTHROPOLOGY AND GENDER
STUDIES AT COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

My writing has focused on developing a critical theory of late liberalism that would support an anthropology of the otherwise. My first two books examine the governance of the otherwise in late liberal settler colonies from the perspective of the politics of recognition. My last two books examined the same from the perspective of intimacy, embodiment, and narrative form. My ethnographic analysis is animated by a critical engagement with the traditions of American pragmatism and continental immanent theory.
